

Citizens Ask Council To Reconsider Public Health Nurse Ruling

Editor, The Era and Express: I was disappointed to read that our esteemed council had refused the electors the privilege of voting on the school nurse proposition.

We are paying considerable in Newmarket for the education of our children. What about the health of our children? This is a first consideration.

How many parents with three or four children can afford the luxury of having the doctor make a call, or even make an office call, to check up on the child's health? An ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure. The taxpayer has a right to the privilege of a vote on the question.

Editor, The Era and Express: The recent action of the town council in the matter of the school nurse seems to call for comment. In these times, when doctors are few because of the war, it would seem that a trained nurse available to the community might do much to arrest in time any outbreak of a dangerous nature with which the town might be threatened.

We are told that war has always brought epidemics and according to statistics and history we are now three years overdue. We have in our midst the camp, which might well add to our danger. The Red Cross is making every effort from coast to coast to train lay people as a nursing reserve in preparation for any emergency disaster or epidemic. The co-operation of trained nurses is sought in making this preparation and a school nurse would be a most important source of co-operation in our local effort.

In view of the many rejects from the army of apparently healthy young men who upon examination are found to be victims of some neglect which might easy have been overcome in its early stages. Lay people, however, do not catch these symptoms at a glance, as does the vigilant trained nurse. Let us seek to be health-

MAYOR WILL MAKE STATEMENT TUESDAY

There are two sides to every question. It is the policy of The Era and Express to publish both sides and particularly, when The Era and Express has taken a side editorially, to give any news material on "the other side" special prominence.

The Era and Express asked Mayor Dr. L. W. Dales to give a statement of his position and the council's reasons for ruling that there should be no health nurse at the present time. Dr. Dales replied that he would make a full statement at a Home and School Association meeting at Stuart Scott school next Tuesday evening, when Dr. W. K. Fenton, M.O.H. for Etobicoke township, will discuss the work of a public health nurse.

Too many costly school days are lost by neglect, which is poor economy. One tubercular case caught in time would save the community many times the cost of a school nurse.

Harriet W. Stephens.

Editor, The Era and Express: The good health of our children, the next generation—the generation that may yet have to finish this war, is of vital importance to our nation now and in the future. Today we are paying for our sins of omission during the stupid, wasted depression years. We did not supply health education.

Newmarket Makes Grade, Mayor Dales Tells Council

MAYOR HAS PLEASANT SURPRISE FOR TOWN COUNCIL AND CITIZENS

A Victory loan dagger pennant has been flying from the town flagpole at Water St.

"Newmarket did reach its Victory loan quota," Mayor Dr. L. W. Dales told the town council on Monday evening.

"It was made up," he said. "The quota was pretty high."

"They did?" queried N. L. Mathews, K.C., clerk and solicitor.

"Yes, I have much pleasure in announcing that," said Dr. Dales. "I sent away the dagger and I enclosed a message: 'Newmarket expects you to use this dagger to good advantage.' And I said that we would be glad to hear from the soldier to whom the dagger is issued."

WHEN YOU GIVE YOU ARE RIGHT IN FIGHT

The Newmarket Lions club Christmas Stocking fund is open again. There is real need in the town despite improved business conditions. There are many youngsters whose parents or parent, as the case may be, are not in a position to provide that extra something which makes Christmas.

It is Christmas and the spirit of Christmas—one person's self-denial to make another happy—that makes western civilization and the Canadian way of life worth-while. It is to preserve the spirit of Christmas that Canadians are fighting and working.

It is true that they are fighting too, not only to preserve the Christmas spirit of neighborliness, but also to spread it, both at home and abroad, to open the way for a better world, to open men's hearts for a better world.

The battle must be waged not only on distant fronts but also here at home. Each man and woman must fight the selfishness within himself or herself and encourage within his own heart the Christmas spirit of "give."

ILL ONLY FEW HOURS, AARON LEAPARD DIES

The death occurred suddenly on Tuesday evening of Aaron Leopard of Queensville. He suffered a heart attack at his home during the morning.

Born on the farm on which he died, near Queensville, Mr. Leopard was well-known in the district. He was the son of Mary Moffat and Jacob Leopard, and was born on May 11, 1875. Mr. Leopard had been blind since birth.

Surviving are three brothers, Sanford of Toronto, and Askelon and Walter of Queensville, and one sister, Mrs. Almada Collingwood of Newmarket.

The funeral service was held at the funeral chapel of Roadhouse and Rose this afternoon. Rev. Hardey Britton conducted the service. Interment was in Queensville cemetery.

The pallbearers were Fred Andrews, Wm. Andrews, Jas. Smith, Ernest Fairbank, Clarence Breen and Geo. Pegg.

CHANGE MARKET

Beginning next Friday, Nov. 27, the Newmarket market will be held Friday afternoons instead of Saturday mornings. This is principally for the convenience of producers, so that they will not have to rise so early during the winter months.

KINDERGARTEN SCHOOL WILL BE DISCUSSED

Chairman W. H. Eves has invited Mrs. Donald McLean, an experienced teacher and the wife of one of the new members of the Pickering college staff, to attend a public school board meeting in the council chambers on Friday evening.

Mrs. McLean is to have an opportunity to discuss with the board possible use of unused rooms (one is furnished, one unfurnished) at the Stuart Scott school for a nursery school kindergarten. The Home and School Association has taken an interest in the proposal and has offered to provide necessary equipment.

Mrs. McLean will discuss with the board either obtaining use of a room to take a group on a fee basis or having the board take care of the expense. The class would be for pre-school children. While the public schools have two teachers less on the staff than budgeted for, Mrs. Norman Williams is serving as a supply teacher, whereas last year a member of the staff, Miss Florence Staunton, the art teacher, served as a supply teacher. The board has also had unexpected expense repairing the slate roof at the Alexander Muir school, it is stated by Secretary R. L. Pritchard.

The board meeting on Friday night, like all board meetings, is open to interested citizens. Mrs. McLean has been asked to give the board an idea of how many parents would be interested in a pre-school school, and is asking those interested to telephone her on Friday between 9 a.m. and 5 p.m. at 207.

WINTER APPROACHES, OVERSEAS MEN WRITE

An airgraph letter has been received by the Newmarket Veterans Soldiers' Comforts fund from Sgt. Gordon Thompson. "Thanks very much for the cigarettes received today," he writes. "They certainly came at an opportune time, as I had just opened the last package of smokes this morning. So you can imagine just what a welcome gift they are."

"Everything here is going along the same as usual but the weather is gradually changing day by day and winter will soon be here. Again my sincere thanks."

"It is some time since I have written you but I hope this will make up for it," Sgt. Ted Robinson writes the Veterans. "I keep in touch with you all through the paper, which reaches me every week or so, and I may say I am very sorry to read about the town boys who have given their lives for their country. We all feel for them and that debt will be paid in full as far as we can, you all can rest assured of that."

"I would like you to pass on my sincere thanks to all those that make the parcels possible. They are doing a fine job and it is hoped that we won't be here too long and that we will be able to return home to our families. "We are having not too good weather over here right now but it will clear up soon, we hope. Must close for this time and thanks again for the parcels received."

Cards thanking the Veterans for cigarettes were received from Spr. Milton Morton and Gnr. R. A. Harman.

APPRECIATE ASSISTANCE

The Davis Leather Co. should be thanked for their assistance in having two employees, W. J. Hopkinson and Norman Williams, decorate the municipal office window and the town hall for the Victory loan campaign. Councillor J. L. Spilllette said at a town council meeting Monday evening.

The council accepted Mr. Spilllette's suggestion that $5 be sent each man in recognition of the late hours they put in on the work.

THANKS VETERANS

A letter was received by Mrs. B. McCannan from her son, Tpr. Robt. McCannan, who is overseas, asking her to thank the Newmarket Veterans for the parcel of cigarettes which he received from them.

ADVISES BOYS TO STUDY LONG AS THEY CAN

"The home, the church and the school are the most prized institutions we have," Norman McLeod, of the University of Toronto Schools, said at the Newmarket high school commencement exercises on Friday evening.

Mr. McLeod counselled "loyalty to oneself and to others." "There are glorious opportunities and unimagined splendors awaiting those who learn one thing well," Mr. McLeod told the graduating students. Some of them had taken distant jobs and were unable to be present. Others had returned for the evening and still others were taking additional courses at the high school.

Mr. McLeod said that to become good citizens young men and women should "learn to yield to the will of the majority and to be loyal to its decision." In conclusion he quoted: "Give the world the best you have. The best will come back to you."

Chairman A. N. Belugin of the high school board presided. He said that with the co-operation of Mayor Dr. L. W. Dales and Chief Constable James Sloss the board had been able to give the Red Cross the use of the auditorium without damage to the school or inconvenience to the students.

Mr. Belugin chided Newmarket ratepayers for having voted down a proposal for a vocational training and domestic science wing, and asked that they vote differently the next time. He paid tribute to Principal J. B. Bastedo and his staff, to the students and fellow members of the board.

"Our commercial department, we feel, takes a place second to none," he said.

"This year we are meeting under vastly different circumstances than in the past," said Valdeictorian Jean Cunningham of Queensville in a brilliant address.

"A serious educational problem has come to Canada," said Miss Cunningham. She quoted Dr. C. C. Goldring, superintendent of Toronto schools, to the effect that it was a mistake if boys of ability are not kept in school whenever possible so that after this war there may be trained minds.

Mr. Bastedo, she said, in the opinion of the students, was "just a little better than most" principals.

"The graduating class is proud of the way Newmarket high school is giving up social activities for Red Cross and other war work," Miss Cunningham said. "We are proud of the two members of the staff in the fighting forces, Mr. Mungovan and Mr. Mawson."

Mr. Bastedo told the audience that Mrs. McLeod, wife of the guest speaker, had been a member of the high school teaching staff ten years ago (Miss Mary Johnson).

Miss Esther McGee and H. W. Garrett of the staff directed a one-act comedy, "Utter Relaxation," in which Robert Brooks, Agnes Wilmot, Jean Lynn, Dorothy Pipher, Donald Cockburn and David Weddel skillfully drew laughter.

PRINCIPAL PUTS WAR REASONS IN NUTSHELL

Proposing a toast to "our fallen comrades," J. B. Bastedo, principal of Newmarket high school, at Tuscan Masonic lodge on Thursday evening, said that Canadians are fighting this war to "make real the things for which 66,000 young Canadians died—liberty, justice and universal peace."

Mr. Bastedo said that "the glory of men who fall in a just cause is imperishable."

Mill, But Tenth Of Cent, Is No Cause For Worry!

"I'd like to know what a mill on our tax rate amounts to," Councillor Frank Bowser asked at a town council meeting on Monday evening.

N. L. Mathews, K.C., clerk and solicitor, said: "It varies from year to year with the assessment." He gave the figure of $2,348 for this year.

"We have changed the assessment," said Mr. Bowser. "Only so far as the school levy is concerned," commented Reeve F. A. Lundy.

Mr. Mathews indicated that the factories assessment change would increase the mill return by perhaps $150.

"A mill is a tenth of a cent, ten cents on a hundred dollars," said Mr. Mathews.

TOWN IN PERIL OF EPIDEMICS, VISITOR WARNS

"There are graver dangers in Newmarket from epidemics than in many other places, because of the presence of a military camp," stated Mrs. Cameron Mackenzie of Beaverton, district officer of the Red Cross nursing reserve, at a Red Cross "tea-less" tea at the home of Mrs. G. E. Case on Friday afternoon.

The nursing reserve is organizing communities for health work of an emergency nature and the instruction will follow up other nursing courses which have been provided by the Red Cross. A series of lectures for the group as a whole will be followed by division into groups for practice work.

"With war comes epidemics," said Mrs. Mackenzie. "It may be typhus, or it may be flu, as in the last war. An epidemic is three years overdue now. The Red Cross expects it and is preparing for it. Doctors and nurses are scarce and will be getting scarcer."

"There may also be events of a disaster nature. The nursing reserve aims to train citizens in emergency health service primarily to help first their own families and then their neighbors."

"You may count on the co-operation of your public health nurse in organizing this work," commented Mrs. Mackenzie. It was pointed out to the speaker that there was no health nurse here.

"Such a nurse is needed and it is important for the community to become health minded," she said. Mrs. Mackenzie stressed the particular importance of a health nurse in wartime.

The proceeds of the tea were about $40. Cocoa was served instead of tea.

Mrs. W. L. Bosworth and Mrs. Harold McClelland, members of the Red Cross executive, poured cocoa. Mrs. W. R. Stephens, president of the Red Cross, received with Mrs. Case.

The Red Cross Christmas cards and calendars were on display. The quilt went to Mrs. Herbert F. Dunham, Yonge St.

Too Late For Health Nurse To Help Win This War - M.O.H.

By Dr. J. H. Wesley, M.O.H.

In last week's Era and Express, the editor, not unlike a preacher in his un-get-at-able position, has gone out of his way to lambaste some of his best friends over the health nurse question. His remarks remind some of us of a small boy acting up just because he cannot get what he wants when he wants it.

At present the big question of the day with everyone is the winning of the war, and to this end we have all been compelled to accept a radical reduction in our way of living. A large percentage of every workman's pay is taken at the head and applied to prosecute the war, to keep our soldiers in the field supplied with food and ammunition, and so it is that we have to neglect all new financial obligations.

The individual members of the town council deserve credit for refusing to put the question of the employment of a health nurse to a vote of the people when there is no likelihood of an election this year.

True, not many of the army recruits have been placed in category "A," but a health nurse is not going to better them for the present war. When the conflict is over in 1944, it will be time enough to improve our present educational system as it pertains to the school and pre-school children. In the meantime let us use our present facilities with all appreciation, spend more time with the little ones ourselves, for, after all, there is no teacher so dear to the little ones as the parent, and no health nurse can take the place of the parent.

Let us teach them with kindness and patience and do not fly off in a rage at the little ones, for after all they are only children and do not know any better until they have been taught by the parents. Do not expect the teacher or health nurse is going to relieve you as parents of any responsibility, for you will find that it will be doubled when the

STATES HEALTH NURSE WOULD BENEFIT ALL

(By Mrs. Morden C. Carter, press secretary, Home and School Association)

The Home and School Association will hold its next meeting on Tuesday evening at 8 p.m., in the Stuart Scott school.

Dr. W. K. Fenton, M.O.H. for Etobicoke township, will be the speaker. He is an able speaker and is highly recommended to deal adequately with the subject of public health nursing service. This should be of vital interest to everyone in the community in these times of stress when health comes first on the home front.

A misconception seems to exist in many minds concerning the scope of a public health nurse. Not only the schools but everyone in the community would benefit from such a service. She would accomplish a great deal to alleviate the dangers of epidemics and consequently loss of valuable time.

Never before has England been so health-conscious or spent as much on health services for civilians. If we wish the future generation to carry on the ideals which our brave men are sacrificing their lives for now, we must safeguard the health of the citizens of tomorrow.

In the interests of the welfare of the whole community you cannot afford to miss this meeting and learn at first hand from those who have had experience the benefits of a public health nursing service.

Refreshments will be served at the close of the meeting.

HIGGLEDY-PIGGLEDY!

An egg within an egg was brought to The Era and Express office, this week by Mr. and Mrs. George Walsh, Mount Albert, who have a poultry farm.

The inside egg was a normal-sized egg, complete with its own yoke and white. The outside egg, containing its own white and yoke and the other egg, was three and a half inches long and weighed eight ounces, compared with two ounces for a grade A large.

Mr. and Mrs. Walsh wonder what "Andy" Clark thinks of the hen.

young idea comes home from school fresh with all the lessons he has received from the nurse. Truly, we are all looking forward to the time when we will have this nurse we have all talked so much about, and would it not be well to keep on thinking and preparing our homes and children for the change.

In the selection of this prospective nurse I hope we shall get one who will be interested in the children's spiritual life, for a word dropped here and there in these young lives will take root and grow, until we have an army of men and women with a groundwork of Christian character—the noblest work of God.

The Protestant children have never received very much religious teaching in school. Not as much as those of the Roman Catholic schools. While I have attended their school for a foxoid clinic I have different times been impressed by the religious exercises going on among the pupils under the direction of the teachers while I waited in the ante-room.

There is no question but that the power of the press is the best educational factor we have, and yet in my work among the schools I have been surprised to find a large number of homes are without our valuable, well-written weekly paper, The Newmarket Era and Express. When we have the health nurse I will suggest that she be armed with lots of copies of the Era, supplied at the expense of the board of health, and also copies of the Bible, that she may leave them in homes where they are not and in such homes where they may be appreciated.

(Editor's Note—Distribution of The Era and Express in the town of Newmarket for the week of Sept. 17, 1942, was 975. However, some of these copies find their way to the military camp, and quite a few of the over 500 single copies (543 Sept. 17) sold are bought by out-of-town residents.)

PUBLIC HEALTH NURSE

We are told, on the one hand, that the council did not submit the public health nurse question to a vote because it would have been defeated and that that would have killed the proposal, and, on the other hand, that the council did not submit the question to a vote because, as rents are frozen, tenants do not share in any increases in taxation and it would be unfair therefore to allow tenants to vote on such a question (and possibly carry it).

Though those two explanations contradict each other (one assumes that the vote would have failed, the other that it might have carried), perhaps some councillors acted for one reason and some for the other.

Another reason given is that as there might be no contest for any of the municipal seats, the town would have been put to unnecessary expense to decide a foregone conclusion. This seems a fairly good reason for any councillor hesitating to arrange a vote, but it would have seemed necessary courtesy to tell the Home and School Association of this decision before it was too late to change it.

We have not much sympathy with the widespread theory of government that elected representatives should follow rather than lead and educate public opinion, but that theory does dominate our parliaments, legislatures and councils, and we do find quite a strong belief among council members that the health nurse proposal would have been defeated.

Without trying to sort out the councillors into those who wanted a health nurse now and those who did not, we are still puzzled. We can't see why those who wanted a nurse would, in addition to not providing for a vote, support a resolution which declared that there would be no health nurse at the present time.

Then there are the councillors who do not want a health nurse now. There are various reasons: it would be unfair to landlords and property owners, the public doesn't want a health nurse, it would be unpatriotic to take a nurse at the present time when nurses are so much needed.

The first reason seems to be a dominant one. In our opinion, if the tax rate does not go up above the tax rate at the time rents were frozen there is no unfairness to the landlord. What is the prospect for next year's tax rate? The final $1,800 payment on a public school debenture was made in October, the final payment on a paving debenture will be made in January and was budgeted for this year (amounting to over $1,200, we figure that the corporation's share is another $1,800 [the property owners concerned will save the balance, which even if divided over the whole town would amount to a mill], the public schools, it is said, will save $1,000 this year and will have a reduced budget of $1,000 next year, the reduction in interest on other debentures next year will be almost $500, and there will be increased revenue for education and relief purposes of $1,500 next year as a result of changes in the assessment. That is a total improvement in the town's position of $7,600 next year. That improvement would be maintained the following year, even if public school expenses went up, as the result of another $1,500 reduction in debenture principal and interest the following year (aside from new debentures).

That $7,600 improvement would carry $1,300 (round figures) principal and interest on the new municipal building and $3,000 principal on the Cotter St. well (debentures not issued, but guessing that the total would be $36,000 spread over 12 years). We do not need to allow for interest, as the town is already carrying this expenditure. We do not need to allow for council salaries of $1,300, as they are being paid this year. This is conservative estimating, for the council might decide to spread the well over 18 years, and in addition the town had a substantial surplus last year and may have another this year.

That still leaves an improvement of $3,300 in the town's position next year, indicating that the town could employ a health nurse and still perhaps effect a tax reduction. The investment might save many thousands of dollars to the town's citizens and industries, in addition to assuring a better chance in life for many of our boys and girls.

Now it is said that we should not be impatient, that the campaign for a health nurse started over a year ago by the Home and School Association at the request of the provincial department of health is too much of a whirlwind affair. The Newmarket Era (one of the predecessors of this newspaper) said editorially on Jan. 17, 1935: "Dr. Dales also made statements of importance concerning the health of many of the town's children. Dr. Dales spoke of the prevalence of skin affections and declared that this indicated under-nourishment. This year's council might make a survey of the health of the town's children. Damage to bones, teeth and general health done in childhood may last a life-time. Dr. Dales urged on the council the distribution of free milk to every school child and the supplying of cod liver oil to children in a run-down condition. Would a school nurse be an extravagance?

How many Newmarket school children today get all the milk they should have or any cod liver oil?

The Newmarket Era on Feb. 14, 1935, said: "The same tax rate as last year might make it possible for the town to employ a full-time school nurse, or recreation director (there were at that time an estimated 50 unemployed young men in the town), or both, or a professional social worker as a relief officer."

There were other editorial articles suggesting the need for a school nurse. The present proposal is for a public health nurse, who would work in the schools and in the homes, doing among other things pre-natal and post-natal work for the town's less well-to-do citizens.

WHAT OTHERS THINK GOVERNORS SHOULD RECONSIDER

(The Toronto Daily Star)

Seven governors of the University of Toronto have succeeded for the time being in barring eighteen friendly alien refugees from the university's science courses. Seven others voted to admit them, but the tie vote had the effect of a negative decision.

Whether it is a legal decision in view of the agreement between the university and its federated colleges remains to be seen. The aliens are enrolled at Victoria College to take science courses at the university, and Dr. Walter T. Brown, Victoria's president, has already made formal protest against what appears to be a violation of the federation agreement. Legal advice on this point is being secured. But apart altogether from that aspect of the decision, the barring of these refugees is a serious mistake. Those responsible for it have done the reputation of the university a disservice. It is a regrettable thing when narrowness of outlook, rather than liberalism, dominates the governing body of a great educational institution.

It is encouraging to find that Dr. Cody, president of the university, moved the resolution to admit the aliens, a motion which was seconded by John J. Gibson, vice-president and general manager of the Chartered Trust and Executor Company; that it was supported by the chairman of the board of governors, Dr. Bruce Macdonald; that Dr. Brown, of Victoria, has determined that everything possible will be done to upset the decision to bar these refugees from the science course.

They were among those sent to Canada by Britain early in the war when friendly as well as unfriendly aliens were rounded up. Their release from internment is conditioned upon their finding sponsors—this has been done—and taking university courses which seven "Varsity" governors are apparently determined to deny them. Other universities and colleges have admitted some of these friendly people. Victoria, an integral unit of the University of Toronto, has done its part in that respect. The governors of the university should reconsider their adverse decision. It would be unfortunate if a resort to legal proceedings should be necessary in order to secure university privileges which should be available to Victoria students as a matter of course, and without which the unfortunate refugees may be forced to submit to re-internment.

ENEMY ALIENS

(The Toronto Telegram)

Enemy aliens are not to be admitted to the University of Toronto during the war. The motion for their admission presented to the board of governors by President H. J. Cody has been defeated on a tie vote. The statement issued later by the secretary of the board spoke of the motion as one for the admission of "friendly aliens," but it was felt by at least some of those who opposed the suggestion that none of the applicants could be regarded as coming within that category.

Opposition to the motion had logical support in the injustice of placing these aliens, however they might be described, in a preferred position to young Canadians who have left the university's halls to discharge duties which the times have placed upon them. They would be given the advantage of university training to prepare themselves for positions after the war and to take the places of our own students who have given up not only their studies but their careers to fight in defense of all that we hold dear.

If these aliens are at a loose end, there are ways in which they can find occupation. If they really are friendly to the cause, they can help in our factories and elsewhere and thus contribute their own share to our war effort. Paradoxical as it seems, if they are deserving of admission to our provincial university, they should not be seeking admission there at this time.

Allied forces have recaptured Tobruk, stronghold in Libya, and are continuing their pursuit of Rommel's broken forces, which spread out from Benghazi to El Agheila, some 400 miles east of Tripoli. British and U.S. troops drove into Tunisia from Algeria this week and their advance guards were reported to have clashed with 10,000 Axis troops in the neighborhood of Bizerte.

U.S. naval forces have taken control of the area in and around Guadalcanal. The Japanese lost 23 warships, troop transports and supply ships. U.S. losses were much lighter.

Summer-clad German troops, unprepared for the severe Russian winter, are dropping out of the battle lines at Stalingrad suffering from frost bite, colds and other illnesses, Moscow says. Meanwhile the Soviet drive is said to be progressing on several fronts.

Spanish military services were authorized to order a partial mobilization. The order is "intended to reassure the Spanish people with regard to tension created by the Anglo-American invasion of French North Africa, and to demonstrate to the world that Spain is firmly determined to defend its position under all circumstances."

Say Factory Whistles Not Piercing Enough

(By Rudy Renzhus, press secretary, Newmarket Civilian Defence Committee)

Our A.R.P. organization had an interesting and well attended public meeting, Tuesday, Nov. 10. It was gratifying to see so many ladies present. The speakers, Lieut. Payne and Sgt. White, were introduced by the chairman, Mr. H. E. Lambert. Both are experts on all kinds of incendiary and gas bombs and had a wealth of information to pass on.

I seem forever to be harping on the necessity of having sand handy just in case, and a point brought out by Sgt. White emphasizes this. The only safe way to stop the downward progress of an incendiary bomb is to have a two to four-inch layer of sand on the attic floor. It is also the only way to put out an incendiary bomb, as water or spray only tends to make these bombs burn faster and hotter.

An incendiary bomb, by the way, has a firing pin that sets off the heat-producing composition as soon as it hits a roof. It almost immediately generates heat up to 4,000 degrees and will burn through practically anything. So the secret is to neutralize the bomb with sand and then to start putting out the fire with extinguishers or what have you. Sgt. White's lecture and demonstrations were very interesting and mixed with personal experiences and good humor.

Lieut. Payne spoke on all the different gases used in modern warfare. His main point was: "Learn how to protect yourself." The list of gases used is quite long and is divided up into the following groups: choking gases, tear gases, nose gases and blister gases. The use of respirators, and in case of blister gases, bleaching ointments, was demonstrated, also a complete gas uniform from boots to hat. Lieut. Payne gave the boys (and girls) a lot of information for which they were very thankful.

We hope soon to have another lecture demonstration. It is worthwhile attending and most certainly shows what could happen. The factory whistles were tried out earlier in the evening, but the general opinion is that they are not penetrating enough. Who has a loud factory-whistle to donate or loan us?

Of People And Things

ACORNS

By Isabel Inglis Colville

Since coming to this part of the world there are two things I miss besides old friends—the St. Lawrence river and oak trees.

When I was a child the acorns furnished all sorts of delightful toys. Gilded and strung on cord they made lovely Christmas tree ornaments; with the cone-shaped part taken out they made delightful little boats; or filled with earth and a tiny sprig of green plant they made fairy-like hanging-baskets for my doll's house.

And all the while, there was the consciousness that the great oak trees around us come from just such a tiny beginning.

And it seems to me that the democracy which is the vital issue in this war, the ideal for whose continued existence we are all trying to contribute something, the ideal for which our boys are fighting and laying down their lives, is like a great oak.

The acorn from which it grew is the love of freedom, which is planted deep in every heart and which no degradation, no regimentation, no slavery or persecution can kill entirely.

Nazism, fascism and shintoism are like the mistletoe, which, in spite of its beauty, is a parasite and which draws the life from the oak, unless it is, itself, pulled away and killed.

The oak, to bear its fruit, has to be well rooted, have lots of sunshine and fresh air, and beneficial rain.

We have all seen stunted oaks, where the limbs were twisted and misshapen and the growth stunted, and I suppose these were caused by poor soil, gales or some other misfortune and I suppose the danger has come to our democracy because we have been indifferent to its needs.

We see a great oak giving shelter and shade to some home; in its green depths the birds build securely and its acorns afford food for the squirrels, and, if it has to be cut down, it goes to build things fine and beautiful and lasting, but are we even conscious of it? We'll say, 'Isn't it beautiful,' or give a passing thought to how bare the place would be without it—but as long as it's there, it's accepted as something we are entitled to.

Isn't it so with democracy? We were born into a free country. What do we know of the horrors of slavery, of the hideousness of being torn from home and loved ones and used and abused at another's will.

Is it any wonder that the songs of the negroes are plaintive—that a minor chord runs through the most cheerful? And yet, in many cases their slavery was not as dreadful as that of Poland or Czechoslovakia. They were not killed by tens and hundreds, by thousands and by whole villages.

They were not, save in rare cases, tortured, and yet, in concentration camps and prisons, tortures that would put to shame those of mediæval times, are practised.

Knowing all this, it behooves us to nurture our oak, to see it for what it is, a way of life where there is a chance for all, where children can be children, where youth can develop, where men and women can work as free people, where education and religion are not at war, but both contribute to the well being of the nation.

We are gaining a clearer idea of what the world would be WITHOUT democracy, and it seems to me that now, with all our facilities of radio, magazines and papers we can educate ourselves to be better citizens, more worthy of the land we live in.

In the past we gave time to everything SAVE a study of our nation's needs—we left that to the politicians—with what results, each person can judge for themselves. Now, we want a world not for politicians but for US and we will get out of it exactly what we put into it.

As a great oak from a little acorn grew, so democracy can only be what WE are.

Whitchurch Arranges For Nominations Dec. 28

A special meeting of Whitchurch township council will be held on Saturday, Dec. 5, to clean up all outstanding business of the year, as far as possible, before Dec. 15, the final meeting date.

The decision to hold the special meeting was reached at the November session held on Saturday. It was presided over by Warden Earl Toole.

No settled policy has yet been arrived at between the town of Aurora and the townships of King and Whitchurch respecting a mutual agreement whereby Aurora offers to buy a new fire truck and equipment. An agreement providing for Whitchurch's share was laid before the township council on Saturday, but the council committee was advised to try to carry on under the present arrangement until it could be seen that all parties were likely to agree to something. Reeve Earl Toole said that the council was willing to enter into any reasonable and equitable agreement.

The Whitchurch fire area extends from Yonge St. to the 4th concession, from lots 61 to 86 on the street, and from lots 5 to 25 on the other concession lines.

Attention was called to a couple of cases in the Ballantrac area of alleged hardship that calls for the prompt attention of the relief officer. The council advised the clerk to remedy the troubles if they are as presented to the council. The clerk was instructed to get in touch with the relief officer.

Relief groceries and wood accounts totalling $54 were ordered paid.

September share of police returns netted Whitchurch $74.88, a report from the court revealed.

Watson Fairies was awarded $18 for one sheep killed and flock damage caused by dogs.

It was decided to notify Uxbridge township of a dangerous condition that exists at Gravel Hill, where a deep gully has been created through the removal of gravel. Uxbridge looks after this portion of the township.

Hospitalization for October amounted to $36.59. It was said to have been one of the lowest months on record since the municipality became responsible for those who cannot pay their hospital accounts.

The election by-law was introduced by Reeve Toole and was passed through committee by Councillor Baker. Nominations will be held on Dec. 28, and an election, if one is demanded, will be held on Jan. 4.

The places and officers to take the vote are as follows: Div. 1, Browning's house, Ben Langley, D.R.O.; Reg. Woods, poll clerk; div. 2, R. Allin's house, Maurice Pike, D.R.O.; Jas. CHURCH BELLS

By GOLDEN GLOW
Today, Sunday, Nov. 15, Britain's church bells rang to celebrate our victory in Egypt—and what a glorious quarter of an hour it was! It began with the bells of Westminster Abbey, and ended with the chiming on the one and only tower left standing of the once magnificent cathedral of Coventry—chimes because the tower was not strong enough to stand having the bells rung, so a hymn was played on the chimes and it must have been intensely thrilling to the people of that much-bombed place, Coventry.

The church bells of Britain, as you know, have been silent for the past two and a half years, since the ringing of the church bells was to be the signal of an invasion. Churchill announced through the week that the church bells were to be rung once again today to celebrate the Egyptian victory and I am sure it would be no mistake to say the whole world was listening to that glad-some music!

After the bells of Westminster Abbey, we heard the deep-toned bells on the Cathedral of St. Cuthbert's, Edinburgh. Then we went over to northern Ireland, where the bells on Armagh Cathedral, in wonderfully sweet tones, rang out their message over the villages and apple orchards of the "end of the beginning" of the war, as Churchill aptly put it. From there we were transferred to what was left of a cathedral outside Cardiff, on the River Task, then to St. Mary's, Petwiche, Lancashire, and then, as I said, the broadcast ended with "O God Our Help in Ages Past," played by a carillon on the chimes at Coventry.

I am sure many phones rang as well, as friend made sure other friends were not missing the wonderful broadcast. It is to be repeated at a quarter past nine this evening and I for one hope to again hear what must have rejoiced the hearts of all who heard it, who fight on our side.

I listened all over again at 9.15 this evening and besides the bells we heard a commentary by Leonard Brockington, who has often spoken over the radio from England. Mr. Brockington described his feelings and reactions as he himself listened to St. Martin's in the Field and St. Margaret's and St. Paul's, and the joy of the children who gathered with their elders to once again hear the loved church bells ring out their glad message of victory. May the time soon come when the church bells of Britain will again ring out as of old.

NAVY LEAGUE RECEIVES $15 GIFT FROM R.S.A.

Nov. 22-29 is Navy League week throughout Canada.

"The object of this effort is to make us all conscious of the great work of the Canadian navy and merchant navy, and to help in their good work by supplying a few of the comforts and warmth these seamen need in their arduous task," said Fred Edwards, chairman of the Newmarket branch of the Navy League.

The Navy League maintains hostels for the brave men, who, when ashore, have no other place to call their home. Many times the hostels are filled with the survivors of torpedoed ships of the merchant navy who are brought ashore completely bereft of their belongings. These men must be cared for and outfitted by the Navy League before they can return to new ships and perils.

A generous response to the appeal is expected. Robert Martin, treasurer, has received a cheque for $15 from the R.S.A. Bugle band, proceeds from a bingo.

HONOR BRIDE-TO-BE

In Memoriam

Blair—In loving memory of Mr. Henry Blair who passed away Nov. 19, 1938.

Loving and kind in all his ways, Upright and just to the end of his days.

Sincere and true in his heart and mind—

Beautiful memories he left behind. Lovingly remembered by his wife and family.

Graves—In loving memory of my dear mother, Rosa Emma Graves, who passed away Nov. 18, 1937.

We are and will be in your memory. Lonely are our hearts today.

For the one we loved so dearly, Has forever been called away.

We think of her in silence, No eye can see us weep, But many silent tears are shed When others are asleep.

Lovingly remembered by daughter, Helen, and Bert.

Graves—In loving memory of our dear mother, Rosa Emma Graves, who entered into rest on Nov. 18, 1937.

Of and oft our thoughts do wander To the grave not far away, Where we laid our dear mother, Just five years ago today.

Sadly missed by son, Delbert, and Frances.

Peat—In loving memory of a dear husband and father, Edward H. Peat, who passed away Nov. 17, 1935.

Not dead to us who loved him; Not lost but gone before him; He lives with us in memory And will forevermore, Sincere and kind in heart and mind.

Beautiful memories he left behind. Ever remembered by his wife and family.

Stickland — In fond and loving memory of my dear mother, Emma Toole Stickland, who departed from this world so suddenly on Nov. 23, 1911.

She has gone across the river To the shores of evergreen, And we long to see her dear face, But the river flows between. Some day, some time, our eyes shall see

The face we loved so well. Some day we'll clasp her loving hand

And never say farewell. God knew that she was suffering, That the hills were hard to climb, So he closed her weary eyelids, And whispered, "Peace be Thine." Away in the beautiful hills of God By the valley of rest so fair, Some day, some time, we know not when, We'll meet our loved one there. Always so sadly missed by your ever homesick daughter, Helen Sheridan.

Members of C Coy., 2nd battalion, Queen's York Rangers, enjoyed a showing of motion pictures with sound on Thursday. The pictures were exhibited by Lieut. Leslie Sharp and proved of benefit to the men in learning how to handle the anti-tank rifle, Bren machine-gun, and Tommy gun.

Mother, Teacher, Preacher Share Church's Pulpit

The close of Education week was marked by an impressive ceremony in Aurora United church on Sunday evening. Students of Aurora high school acted as ushers. Barbara Gilbert, president of the high school literary society, read the Scripture lesson and the announcements. The church orchestra, under the direction of Raymond Cook, provided a special musical program. Miss Anne Dunning and Mrs. A. C. A. Willis gave a piano and organ duet. The respective influences of the home, school and church in character building were dealt with helpfully by Trustee Mrs. Vivian Wilcox, Principal J. H. Knowles and Rev. Roy Hicks. "The four basic institutions of a free people are the home, the school, the church and the state," declared Mrs. Wilcox. "It seems to me that the home is first in importance, because it is the very foundation upon which other institutions are built. The more we know, the more we do. The more we do, the more important it is we do the right thing. Education does not begin in the classroom. It begins with us. "During the first five or six years of a child's life his parents are his teachers. Our responsibility does not end when the teacher takes over the task. I think it would be a splendid thing if Aurora had a Home and School club, where parents and teachers could meet and work out their problems together. "If the child's outlook is bounded by a garden fence, then the development of sympathetic impulses is checked and the child is disposed to become clannish, exclusive and selfish," declared Mr. Knowles. "The school is a halfway house between the entirely domestic life of early childhood, and the larger life that awaits the youth when he quits the parental roof. "The aim of the school is not just to give knowledge. It is to produce citizens with wisdom and character. The wise parent and the teacher will seek to understand each other's aims and to second each other's efforts. Nothing can be more demoralizing to the child than the lack of unity and harmony between his home life and his school life. The need of the community is good citizens, men who consider neighbors, men with a sense of honor, in short, men of character. The task of the home and school is also the task of the church. Even though we attend church only one day a week, the presence has a moral effect upon the life and conduct of the citizens. Character building is a united task of the three. "The influence of the home and school is great," declared Rev. Roy Hicks. "What we seek in life is not just a good living but good lives. The church has great moral truths to teach and the precepts of Christianity are applicable to all our doings. We must fuse what we learn with the great values of life. "The church once controlled education and its present form has been largely influenced and disciplined by religious precepts. The home and family are the basis of a Christian life. Working together as a team the three can produce the type of men we need for the creation of a better and more equitable world and lasting peace. Science without sanctity spells poisonous gas."

Mothers Staggered Under Staggered School Hours

Aurora public school pupils, who were on a staggered class system, went back to normal hours of 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. this week, much to the joy of the majority of pupils and parents. Room has been made in the board-room for Miss Everett's class of 17 pupils and there is just about enough room in the school for all pupils. The decision to change hours was arrived at by a unanimous vote of the public school board. Staggered hours worked well but to parents with more than one child the staggered class system was a headache. For instance, one mother told 'The Era and Express' her routine was as follows: early breakfast for husband going to work, early breakfast half-hour later for boy attending staggered class, half-hour later breakfast for daughter attending ordinary class at public school and for daughter attending high school. At noon, husband and public school daughter arrived home for lunch at 12 a.m. At 12:30 home came high school daughter, and at 1 p.m. home came junior from the staggered class for the rest of the day. The difficulty of cooking, keeping warm the meals, and washing dishes can well be seen, although this family is perhaps not the average school family. "Supper was the only meal it was a pleasure to get ready and when we all ate together," one mother said. Others voiced the opinion that staggered classes were splendid in spring and summer and early fall but, because of darkness, late in the late fall and winter months. DEFEAT ST. ANDREW'S 2-0 Aurora high school soccerers scored a 2-0 win over St. Andrew's college on a snow-covered field at the college last Thursday. Gar. Donlittle scored shortly after the opening whistle and late in the game George Stone banged home another to clinch matters. The game was closely contested throughout. A.H.S. Patton and son of King have rented an apartment on Yonge St. A.H.S. BOYS WIN 2-1 Aurora high school footballers defeated St. Andrew's college 2-1 on Monday afternoon. Despite slippery terrain the game was fast. Griffith put Aurora in the lead in the first half and shortly after the start of the second half, Gar. Donlittle scored. The Aurora defense rallied strongly and finally banged one past Westcott in the Aurora goal. Delroy Babcock refereed the game. W.C.T.U. MEETS The Aurora W.C.T.U. held its annual meeting this afternoon at the home of Mrs. Howard Oliver.

King Farm Couple Mark 50th Wedding Anniversary

With all their children and over 75 friends and relatives present, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hunt, 4th concession, King, celebrated their golden wedding anniversary on Monday. Mr. Hunt, who was born on the 3rd concession, is 77. Mrs. Hunt, who was born near Guelph, is 73. Both are in good health and take a keen interest in the management of their farm. At the age of five Mrs. Hunt moved with her family to Marksville Island and at the age of nine Mr. Hunt and his family likewise moved there. They attended different schools on the island but as children knew each other and 50 years ago wedded. In 1900 they moved to King township and since then have resided on the same farm. With the help of his son, Stanley, Mr. Hunt still supervises the 150-acre farm. There are nine children in the family and 16 grandchildren. Home for the occasion were: Mrs. Medford Pearson, Toronto, Mrs. Earl Fogal, Columbus, Mrs. George Munshaw, King township, and Mrs. Harold Cairns, King township, Hugh, Herbert, Stanley and Robert, King township, and Pte. Stewart Hunt of the 1st battalion, Queen's York Rangers. Mrs. Hunt, whose maiden name was Eliza Scott, had her brother, Frank Scott, Aurora, and a sister, with her for the occasion. A sister, Mrs. Mary Ferguson, Manitowish, and a brother, William, in Alberta, were unable to be present. Mr. Hunt's brother Robert, Tiger Hill, Alta., was likewise unable to be present. Both Mr. and Mrs. Hunt have been active members of Snowball United church, Mr. Hunt having been an elder for some years. Rev. W. J. Burton, the pastor, brought greetings from the congregation, while both the W.A. and W.M.S. honored the couple with lovely bouquets.

PLACES WREATH

HAS ACCIDENT

Skidding on the slippery pavement on Saturday morning, a car driven by Andrew Mordison, Newmarket, crashed into the parked car of Charles Davies of Aurora, causing substantial damage to the Davies car. County Constable Aubrey Fleury investigated.

IS ON LIBRARY BOARD

William Coleman has been named by the Aurora public school board as its representative on the Aurora public library board. Mr. Coleman, who is an employee of the Sloman Shoe Co., replaces Lieut. N. F. Johnson.

GOES TO ORILLIA

Milton Sherman, who has been C.N.R. section foreman at Allandale for the past few years, has been transferred to Orillia. The family will continue to reside here.

GET BEARS AND DEER

Little venison is reported as having found its way back to Aurora, although all hunters report sighting a great many deer. The party of which George Spence and Joseph Mitchell were members obtained one deer. Ex-Mayor George Baldwin bagged a deer but Jas. Henry was not so fortunate. A party composed of Russell and Everett Preston of Bethesda, Orval Preston and Percy Yake, Vanderloo, and Will. Atkinson, Aurora, had slightly better luck. Russell Preston shot a 400-pound black bear near Sundridge and also a red fox. Highway Traffic Officer Jas. Blenkins was successful in obtaining both a bear and a deer, while Sgt. Sydney Barracough of the York county police obtained a deer.

LIBRARY ADDS NEW BOOKS

Among the new books recently added at Aurora public library are: The Killer and the Blain, Hugh Walpole; Murder in Retrospect, Christie; The Terrace Sledge Murder, Gribble; A Little Lower than the Angels, Sorenson; The Drama of Morning, Van Doren; Driving Women, Chevalier; The Case of the Drowning Duck, Gardner; A Murder in Sydney, Mann; Death and the Dancing Footman, Marsh; The Trail of the Conestoga, Dunham; Unsolved Mysteries of the Arctic, Stefansson; Spencer Brade, M.D., Slaughter; Dina Cashman, Norris; Where Do We Go From Here, Laski; The Saint Goes West, Charteris.

RAISE $3.26 FOR WAR WORK

Aurora public school pupils collected $3.26 on Halloween night for their war work fund.

Barbara Gilbert Gets Acclamation, President

With President Barbara Gilbert and Treasurer George Stone elected by acclamation, Aurora high school voters went to the polls on Friday to complete the election of the Literary and Athletic society executive. Close contests marked the entire ballot. The officers are: hon. pres., Miss Lorna Arscott; president, Barbara Gilbert; vice-pres., Raymond Cook; sec., Mavis Sloman; treas., George Stone. Form representatives: XIII, Barbara Walker and Gibson Smith; XII, Patricia Ganton and Douglas Clark; XI, Vera Walker and Bill Williams; XA, Grace Willis and Clayton Ross; XI, Lenna van der Maaten and Harold Milgate; IXA, Louise Kelly and David Johnson; IXB, Clara Thomas and Melbourne Newton.

IS SAFE IN CHINA

Word has been received by relatives of the safety in China of Miss Charles L. Wellwood, well known in Aurora and a cousin of Rev. H. E. Wellwood of Richmond Hill. At last reports Miss Wellwood was leaving Chengtu for India. She had not been heard from in some months.

SALVAGE BOMBER

After over a week of work and with a security guard on 24-hour duty, the Hudson bomber, which crashed last week on the farm of Stanley Terry, 6th concession, King, was finally towed away by the R.C.A.F. Only the internal parts of the machine and instruments were worth salvaging.

SERVES IN ARMY

Pte. Roy Burling, a former Newmarket boy, is on active service with the Canadian army. Two brothers, Pte. Don Burling and Tpr. Carl Burling, are overseas. Photo by Barrager.

DOWN THE CENTRE

Jack Curtis, the former Tiger defence team and one of the greatest ever to play junior in these parts, is in the army now and not in the navy as he had at first intended. Jack will play for the stockyards team in the West Toronto league.

Fete Donkin, now a jolly tar, because of his appendix operation did not try out with the navy senior team but the Aurora speed-boy has joined Ellis Pringle's De Havilland team and is linked up with a powerful scoring trio.

Bob Bangay, the Markham flash, stationed in Toronto with the R.C.A.F., still centres the aircraft centre line and is as tricky as ever, while on the other wing is Jim Cumming, former Aurora captain. Cumming is one of the leading scorers in the O.R.F.U. this year with Oakwood Indians. He has galloped for four touchdowns and is like greased lightning but as a butter-fingered on catching the punts, but then his protection is not too good.

Phil Vitale, the big defence man with Newmarket Camp last year and one of the Atlantic City Seagulls of other years, is stationed in Toronto now and has again turned out with stockyards, with which team he went berserk on the blades last winter to earn a suspension.

Pete Laetle will be a name that is out of the distant past to many Aurorans. Pete ran a pool-room in Aurora, upstairs on Wellington St., and was a great backer of all Aurora teams. He had come here for his health. Later he resumed his career as a hotel manager and is one of the leading hotelmen of Niagara Falls. He has kept up his interest in sport all these years and a cup bearing his name is the trophy for the Falls juvenile league. The players all receive miniatures, too.

Tradition has its place in the world of sport as in society, or politics, and, with hockey at hand, we like to recall one which thrilled us at the time.

Royal Military college at Kingston until last year played annually a hockey match with the army boys from West Point on the Hudson. We may say that we think was the first clash and the U.S. "kaydets" were no match for their Canadian cousins. The games were arranged to be played alternately in Kingston and the States. The visiting team came with no supporters and only just enough players. At the train their opponents met them, took them back to their school, shared quarters with their opponents, two to a room, valetted them, provided girls for the dance and refreshments too.

At the rink the entire student body turned out for the game (it was a disgrace not to), and by rearrangement the boys were divided into two parts. One marched to one side of the rink back of the U.S. flag and the visitors' bench. The rest went behind their schoolmates, and the scene was now set for a strange sight. Both sides now had rosters and supporters de luxe, and they cheered and rooted at the tops of their voices for and against their own school. The system was reversed when the two teams met elsewhere the following year.

The present Major-General C. F. Constantine was commandant of the Kingston military academy at that time and had, we think, a big hand in the unique arrangement. West Point once or twice became strong enough to defeat R.M.C.

Congrats to Bud Palmer, former member of the Barrie Colts and Atlantic City seagulls. Bud, who married Evelyn Bates of Aurora, who resides here, became a proud poppa (of a son) recently.

Chatham Camp, big baseball rivals of Newmarket Camp, have a basketball team performing in the Chatham city league. A challenge along the grapevine is tossed in the general direction of No. 23 B.T.C. If you can't take them at softball, the court game might be the answer for that old feeling which still rises up at Camp Harkness when anybody mentions Chatham.

Dan Howley last week pulled up stakes and left Toronto as silently as the Bedouins steal away. We get this information from an acquaintance of Dapper Dan's. Understand he goes to a war post in the U.S.A. But we bring it up to point out how feeling fame can be. A few years back, when Dan was the toast of Toronto for his baseball activities, his every movement was publicized. Now when he leaves it doesn't even merit a line.

Don Willson, the former Newmarket Redman, sure had his propelling glasses focused for his senior amateur debut. Bradford Don popped home three counters and an assist, a new experience for Don too, because he jumped straight from junior hockey to pro.

Only Normie Mann of the dominion titleholders of '32 has weathered the passing of the years as well as Willson. Mann is going great guns with Pittsburgh this season and is near the top of the scoring in the minor pro ranks. Mann will likely see action in the majors before the season ends.

Vic Meharg, big Markham defence man, is Gunner Meharg now and is at Toronto right now awaiting transfer to Petawawa. Meharg, a home-town boy, did well for the Markies, tho' not spectacular. He has had the distinction of playing on a runner-up, championship and runner-up team three years in a row, two in junior and one in intermediate. Meharg is the type of lad who can be calculated to see that "the caissons go rolling along." The two Harpers, Jack and Ike, are about the sole survivors of last year's Markham intermediate team in civilian ranks.

Charlie Christie has been returned to office as president of the Barrie hockey club for a third term along with practically the same executive. Ald. Grant Mayor, who used to reside at Vandorf, is a new addition this season. We were surprised to note in the club's financial statement that the club's share of gate receipts amounted to only $368.48, which must have been an all-time low for Barrie.

Agincourt rink has announced it will carry on its usual bush-league hockey circuit. Stouffville and Uxbridge will likely do the same. It behooves Aurora and Newmarket rink managements to get busy on some kind of a hockey series.

Charlie Case, the "Gabby Hartnett" of local softball and a fair netminder in hockey, has accepted a position at Orillia, and so the contemplated Case's Aces town league team will likely fall through. King City will need to uncover a new goalie.

Lex Chisholm, former Toronto Leaf, is an army officer now and is coaching the ordnance team entered in the Kingston City league. He is also expected to play senior hockey with the Frontenacs.

Gordy Fanning, former Aurora junior, is still located in the Limestone City and is playing defence for Chisholm's team.

Tarzan Pirie, catcher on the Newmarket camp hardball and softball teams most of the past season, is holding down a regular defence post beside Fanning.

The Carnegies, who are colored and not Scotch, as their name might suggest, are in Toronto now and will play their hockey there. Ossie and Herbie, who hail from Willowdale, played with Buffalo Ankerite, N.O.H.A. winners of last year. Ossie, the elder of the pair, played junior lacrosse for Thornhill in 1934. Both boys are clean, clever performers and a credit to their race. Their older brother, Eric, was a boxer of note and appeared on several occasions in bouts at Newmarket a few years back. The Carnegie brothers are the only colored boys we can recall who have made a niche for themselves in Canada's winter sport.

St. Andrew's college, by virtue of a loss to Newmarket high school, managed to maintain a winless season. The score was 11-0, too, and the Andean backs just about swooned when so few crossed their goal-line. The Andean's played eight games and lost eight. The scoring average against them was better than 30 points a game for a near-Canadian record. U.T.S. wound up the season with a record of ten out of 11 in the win column and 235 points in blue as against 44 in red.

Pickering college gave U.T.S.

WINS BOXING MATCHES

Lance-Bombardier Fred Woodhouse is the son of Mr. and Mrs. F. G. Woodhouse, Pine Orchard, L.-Bdr. Woodhouse has been overseas since March and has twice won the boxing match held in his camp.

their only loss of the season and were beaten only twice themselves. Ridley won the prep school title but, of course, did not have to meet the U.T.S. boys, who, so far as the big prep schools are concerned, are hardly social equals.

Del. Beaumont, besides playing hockey for Marlboro Juniors, is attending the University of Toronto this season. Del. has both scholarship and hockey ability. Jack Watson of Markham is the only other junior of the group to seek higher learning this season.

Bruce Stephens, left-winger of the Aurora team the past two years, is not going to university this season but having finished high school is filling in nicely on his father's big cattle and fox farm. Stephens is still only 18 and it will be too bad if he doesn't get a chance to further his hockey career this year.

Bill Wilson, in his first senior game with the navy, scored two goals and got an assist for three points, while Scotty Blair kept pace with him with a similar effort. Both former Aurora Juniors look headed for big seasons and it is the first time they have played together since 1937-38.

McLeod, who is playing for the furs, is the Kirkland Lake boy who was imported by Barrie Colts last year and was then stolen by Chicago Blackhawks and shifted to Kansas City just prior to the opening of the season last year.

Bruce Cutting, the former sub-goalie for Newmarket Juniors and a high school athlete, is on active service in Toronto with the army medical corps. Bruce, who has been employed by Collis Leather the past two years, for some months had been trying unsuccessfully to enter Galt aircraft factory.

They never learn dept. For at least three years now player "Joint" McComb and the deonair hockey arbiters, Ken Holmshaw, have more or less had chips on their shoulders though both deny it. Holmshaw is refereeing in the same mercantile circuit in which "Joint" plays and in their very first game of the season, McComb drew several penalties and finally drew a misconduct penalty for protesting vociferously to Kenny the merits of a decision.

Holmshaw, however, like a housewife, always has the last word but McComb keeps trying. Three years ago Holmshaw, we always thought, acted a bit too hastily in having a two-game suspension placed on McComb for a run-in with player Armstrong of Kingsway. It had a salutary effect, however, for McComb was practically a stranger to the penalty-box the rest of the season.

Joe Tunney, who is one of Joe Primeau's reserve goalies for his R.C.A.F. senior team, received a nasty gash in the chin one day last week when he stopped a sizzler from the stick of teammate Eddie Bush in practice. Bush, who was with Detroit Redwings last year, has a shot as fast as the pitch of his family namesake in baseball, "Bullet Joe" Bush. Belanger, the first-string goalie for the alumni, played in Quebec senior last year.

Believe it or not dept. 'Tis said that Enzo Sellzi, one of the two Italian boys who played for Milton Juniors last year, signed a contract with Detroit Redwings and didn't know what he was signing. Sellzi, who looked only ordinary until the play-offs last year, may have been proffered one but we doubt he didn't know what he was doing. Whether or not it's true, he's playing mercantile in Toronto this year and so the mistake may have been mutual. Probably a case of mistaken identity. By the way, what has become of Milton's ace, Joe Gehertzel, who was said to be a certainty for Boston Bruins? We have our scouts out working on it. Hope he didn't make the same mistake as Sellzi and get a ticket to Alaska instead of Boston.

The reeve and clerk were authorized to have the necessary action taken to discharge the mortgage on the M. J. White property on the Holland Marsh as the mortgage has been paid in full.

For sheep worried by dogs Wm. Marchant was paid $8 and Gordon Boyd $15.

For their services as valuers Thomas Trainer and T. C. Wray were paid $2.

The treasurer was authorized to issue a cheque for $560 to the King permanent common school fund, $400 principal and $160 interest on the $4,000 loan to S. S. 4, King.

The clerk and collector were instructed to apportion the 1942 taxes amounting to $322.20 between the respective owners on the north half of lot 13, con. 2, 100 acres assessed to N. Romanuk.

The following resolution, moved by Councillors E. M. Legge and L. B. Goodfellow, was passed by the council:

"Whereas after the last world war of 1914-1918 there was considerable unemployment and relief and as the result the morale and earning power of the people was greatly impaired.

"And whereas no provision was provided by our governments to relieve or dispel this situation.

"Therefore be it resolved that this council hereby recommend and petition the dominion government to establish, in collaboration with the various provincial governments, a royal commission or other body to examine and report on ways and means whereby (so far as may be) security from fear and want may be justly and fairly be established for every man, woman and child in Canada in order that conditions that followed the last great war may be avoided. And that a copy of this resolution be forwarded to the dominion and provincial governments."

The reeve was authorized to look into the township's outstanding debentures bearing interest at five to six and a half percent, with the view of having them redeemed and new debentures issued at the market interest rate of between two and a half and four percent. He is to report back to the council at his earliest convenience.

The council then resolved itself into a court of appeal under the Assessment Act. The reeve was appointed chairman of the court. The meeting adjourned to meet at the Temperance hall, Kettleby, on Dec. 15, at 9 a.m. at the call of the chair.

Citizens Ask Council To Reconsider Public Health Nurse Ruling

tion. We did not supply adequate medical care to counteract the scourge of malnutrition. Ask any medical officer in our armed forces.

Looking to the future, whether we like it or not, we might as well face the fact that we, the people in Newmarket, together with the people of the rest of the dominion, are on the threshold of a new era. As a prelude to that era we are destined to go through a period of drastic change in our way of life. Our food is being rationed, transportation facilities curtailed, electric power diminished. The tempo of our entire economy will be accelerated. Gradually every man and every woman will be required in some phase of war work. Long hours and strain may be the lot of men and women.

What will be the effect on our children? The problem should be faced realistically and hard-headedly. The first step is the immediate appointment of a public health nurse, who will be on guard against the greatest of all subtleties of morale and fighting efficiency—disease. The acute shortage of doctors makes the appointment imperative.

People of Newmarket, it is your patriotic duty to safeguard the health of your children.

Mr. Mayor and members of Newmarket town council, the citizens of Newmarket expect leadership from you. You must not fail.

Home and School Association member

Stupid Economy

Editor, The Era and Express: After reading your very clear summary of the efforts of a civic-minded group of people to have a public health service initiated in this town and the shabby way their efforts were treated by the board of health and the town council, the chief thought that comes to the serious-minded citizen is that the most important change needed in Newmarket is in those two bodies.

How can the citizens expect forward planning from a council that doesn't trouble to study plans prepared by the provincial department of health? How does the council reconcile their plea of wartime economy with their purchase of a town clerk's office, which is, after all, a makeshift?

How can a council, which evidently doesn't see beyond the immediate present and the pockets of the older and childless citizens, plan for the future which depends on the children of today?

How can a council which voted itself, in an hour's deliberation, remuneration, however justified it may be, amounting to $1,300 a year, say there is no money for a public health service?

These are questions which responsible citizens should ponder well, before nomination day comes around.

Editor, The Era and Express: I feel that I must express my feeling of keen disappointment at the action of our council in turning down the plan of having a public health nurse for Newmarket.

As a mother of three small children I feel that any assistance that can be given to keep our children healthy is a real necessity. The council seems to be convinced of the need of a health nurse but are waiting for a more opportune time. What time could be more opportune than the present when there are fewer and more overworked doctors to care for many more people—people who are moving from place to place and living in congested areas, increasing the opportunities of spreading infection?

Council is right that we should buy war bonds with our money, but—there was not too much hesitation by council in spending money in other ways which would convenience a few, whereas the money spent to employ a health nurse would be repaid over again in improved health standards and thus be of benefit to all of us.

Having gone to school where proceeds will be used for war work. There will be music and a lunch counter. F. N. Smith, Newmarket, will be the auctioneer and Geo. E. Richardson the clerk.

Rev. R. R. McMath will give an illustrated lecture on Ireland at Wesley church on Monday evening, under the auspices of the Y.P.S. There will be special music.

Mr. and Mrs. Griffith and Miss Dora Cameron of Thelvetown visited Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Kingston over the weekend.

Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Scott of Mount Albert visited Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Kingston Sunday.

Miss Alta Carr is confined to her home with mumps.

a health nurse was employed, I know how cases of contagious respiratory and other diseases, skin diseases, deafness and faulty sight—can be checked and improved through the interested co-operation of a health nurse.

By the time the war is over the present council—if still present—would perhaps be more interested in building new sidewalks or widening Main St. (both needed, I admit) or some such project, but what of the health of our children NOW? Nowadays, more interest than ever before is being taken in health education in schools, army camps, factories and munition plants—people are becoming more and more health conscious—and necessarily so. Newmarket is a flourishing town and should therefore do all in its power to keep health standards at a high level.

As a taxpayer, I do not feel that the expense of this idea would be too prohibitive to the individual—and I do think that we should at least have the opportunity of expressing our wishes in a vote, although we did not do so for the town's recent purchase.

Most of our town fathers are not fathers of pre-school or school children but they must certainly realize that the fate of Canada's future depends just as surely on a healthy population as it does on victory in our present conflict.

I am sure council has our best interests at heart and I sincerely hope they will re-consider their decision for the kiddies' sakes in particular.

Doris Beare

Editor, The Era and Express: One of the great concerns that has arisen since the war started has been the lack of physical fitness of the men and women who have tried to join one or other of the armed forces. The greater part of this unfitness is due to defects—defects that can be corrected even now but could have been corrected years ago had the communities in which the men and women grew up provided adequate health services for all.

A public health nurse would have been and could be a very vital part of such health services.

This country has a future! This country and all its many communities have a responsibility for that future. The citizens must be good ones, above all healthy and strong to inherit this land of ours.

A public health nurse's work is necessary if the communities are to fulfill this guarantee of the future. What good is victory if there are not large numbers of people able enough to inherit it?

Dozens of men have left their homes, their communities, their land, giving nearly all they have for victory. They leave behind their families expecting that there will be reasonable care and provision made for their well-being and the growth, development and education of their children. A community can hardly hesitate to make some expenditures for such as these. Civic leaders are scarcely loyal who fail to invest in such "Victory Bonds" as these.

A public health nurse is a guardian of such "Bonds" as these—a guardian against depletion.

"...Sickness causes the loss of the effort of 50,000 workers a day in Canada." These figures are true of the present time. The children of these workers go to school. At schools an epidemic of flu or colds spreads rapidly among the students if those who are ill are not excluded from the school while they are affected. The children take the cold home and dad or mother catches it and then the working parent is forced to stay away from work because of sickness.

A public health nurse could help prevent the spread of such epidemics to war workers. The home front is as important as the other fronts of the war. Many doctors and nurses from the home front have joined the active service forces. Fewer doctors on the home front have almost super-human jobs now. These doctors need all the help and protection from exhaustion that their fellow citizens can give them.

A public health nurse can help maintain the home front and lend a hand in the work of the fewer remaining doctors.

Rationing affects all of us. Food rationing affects our health, our working ability, the growth and development of the children. Lots of folks will need help in planning how to get the most out of limited amounts of some of the basic foods. Parents will need help in learning to spot the signs of malnutrition that might conceivably occur.

A public health nurse could be of great benefit, at such a time as this, helping all the citizens in the matter of nutrition.

Morale is important in any crisis. Morale is especially important in democracies right now. The people must believe in our democratic processes. The local people appear to have expressed to their local, elected representatives that they should make provision for a public health nurse. If the council has in any way obstructed the democratic method, then to that extent have they left themselves open to criticism and possible accusations of sabotage. The people must feel that they can trust their representatives in our democracies.

A public health nurse appointment by the local authorities would contribute to local morale and perhaps in a small way to national morale.

We have a democratic form of government. It had to be fought for a number of times. It is being fought for again all over the world. Funny if the scrap should be found right here on this little spot of the home front!

Contributor

Editor, The Era and Express: It was with great amazement that your report of the last council meeting was read. Amazement that a matter of public welfare could be dismissed so summarily by a group of men who were elected to guide the town in matters of this kind. Matters which have no welfare value, which involve comparatively few people in this town and which entail heavy expenditure, have been passed during the past year by this same group of men.

Health education has received a most prominent place in Great Britain during this war because it has been so apparent that the health of the nation is the first line of defence. Their expenditures for war have been tremendous but they have spent more on health education than ever before despite this. They are not waiting until a great epidemic strikes us as in the last war and takes another terrific toll of life—greater even than the toll of the war.

A public health nurse who catches one case of inebriety or tuberculosis or a mental disturbance that will end in sanitarium treatment saves the municipality many times her salary. We feel that this decision of the town council is one that should receive serious consideration by the electors of Newmarket.

Caroline Edwards.

ENOUGH COPPER FOR FOUR MILES OF WIRE
GOES INTO ONE BIG BOMBER

... And one machine gun in action for only four minutes uses enough copper for a mile and a half of telephone wire.

Those are just two of the reasons why copper and other materials needed for war equipment can't be used now to build new telephone lines.

Right now, Long Distance lines are often overcrowded, especially to key war centres

Won't you help by cutting down your Long Distance calls to these points to an absolute minimum?

Call by number when you can—plan in advance what you want to say, in order to save "telephone time".

War calls come first!
